VOLTA New York 2019

Announcing Main Section Exhibitors and Artists

NEW YORK, JANUARY 29, 2019: VOLTA New York returns to Pier 90 for its twelfth edition in New York City, from March 6 – 10, 2019, concurrent with Armory Arts Week and the 25th anniversary of its neighbor, The Armory Show. VOLTA promotes its mandate of “global vision – solo focus” by welcoming 70 international exhibitors across North America and the Caribbean, Africa, Europe, and Asia, and presenting established and emerging artists from 37 nations.

“My goal when transporting VOLTA from its Basel foundation to New York 12 years ago was to make a boutique, solo-focused destination art fair, and concentrating our number of booths to mirror our Basel fair is a part of this plan,” comments Amanda Coulson, VOLTA Artistic Director. “We operate in a changed calendar — NADA and Collective Design have both paused on their New York fairs — and now is as prescient a time as ever to bolster our brand across both locations. In this way, we do our best for our galleries, providing that hands-on and personal treatment longtime exhibitors have come to expect and appreciate, as well as for our collector patrons and invited guests. VOLTA has always strived to position itself as a socially conscious, eminently navigable, and visually refreshing experience — and with our revamped floor-plan and key programming from the National Academy of Design, plus our soon-to-be-announced 2019 Curator and VOLTA Cares initiatives, in concert with 70 strong solo positions in the Main Section, we have achieved this balance.”
